Going Shopping

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving. Carol and the children are going shopping. They have to buy special things for Thanksgiving Dinner.

They buy cranberries and corn - and squash.

The word “squash” comes from a native American language. A squash is a kind of pumpkin.

Carol buys green beans and sweet potatoes. Sweet Potatoes, green beans, squash, cranberries and corn are old American vegetables and fruit.

And what else?

Carol buys bread for the stuffing - and wild rice.

And of course, we need a turkey for Thanksgiving. Here are the turkeys. Carol buys a big fresh one.

This one looks good.

Carol: Shall we take this one? That one looks good. Oh, it’s a heavy one.

Now, we have everything we need for Thanksgiving Dinner: squash, sweet potatoes, green beans, cranberries and a turkey.

Bob from the supermarket helps pack - heavy things at the bottom and light things on top.

Bob: Happy Thanksgiving.

The guests will bring other special things for dinner tomorrow.
